The impressive growth of trade and investments between China and Latin America in the last few years has attracted the attention of the business world and policy makers; this book is one of the first to explore and analyze this relationship in detail. It studies the trade, investment, and business of the main players at both the country/region and company levels in the current context of globalization and the growing importance of emerging markets in the world economy. The authors conclude with a set of likely scenarios and recommendations for business managers, policy makers, and researchers.

Gaston Fornés received a PhD in Management from the University of Bath, UK, an MBA from Universidad Adolfo Ibañez, Chile, and his first degree in Management from Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina. He was also an MBA-Exchange Student at Marshall School of Business, University of Southern California, USA. Before starting his career in academia, he worked in industry for around two years in the USA, Argentina, and Chile. Dr. Fornés received the Liupan Mountain Friendship Award from the Ningxia Government, China in 2010 and is Fellow of the UK Higher Education Academy.

Ian Butt-Philip is Honorary Jean Monnet Reader in European Integration at the University of Bath, UK, where he has taught and conducted research since 1975, mostly within the School of Management. He has also been Head of Postgraduate Programmes (1996–98), and Head of Undergraduate Programmes (1999–2005 and 2007–2010). He has received many senior management roles. He has been active in UK politics as a Liberal/Liberal Democrat candidate for the House of Commons and the European Parliament over many decades.