WORDS OF WELCOME FROM THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

Dear Presenters, Participants and Guests,

The China goes Global (CGG) Conferences have roots in a 2005 Rollins College conference and a subsequent foundation grant from the Alexander von Humboldt Stiftung for a trans-Atlantic joint research project with Rollins College, Georgia Tech, Harvard University and Jacobs University on China's outward investment. Ever since the first conference in 2005, which was held at Rollins College in Florida, the China goes Global™ conference has benefited and thrived from the enthusiasm, motivation and dedication of the members of the Chinese Globalization Association (CGA).

The rise of China as a global economic power and the increasing awareness of its impact on international trading regimes have engendered a new dialogue about intercontinental business matters. We founded the Chinese Globalization Association in 2012 to support and encourage academic research on the phenomenon of the contemporary globalization of China, not only as an exchange of knowledge between academic and business institutions but also to advance public awareness of the issues. Each year, more than 100 scholars attend the China goes Global™ conference. Their contributions not only add to the growth of knowledge about China's modern political and economic development, global crises and changes in business and people interaction but also ensure a realistic perspective on the changes we face in the world market. The Chinese Globalization Association (CGA), Inc., a non-profit organization, was formed exclusively for charitable, scientific, and educational purposes. Its mission is to assist, promote, and advance the development of the emerging field of study and research on Chinese globalization, emphasizing multidisciplinary approaches, including fields of knowledge such as international business, economics, political science, history, sociology and other relevant disciplines. We welcome the delegates, presenters, and guests to the 11th annual conference of CGG to the University of Agder, Kristiansand, Norway.

Kristiansand is the fifth largest city in Norway with nearly 90,000 inhabitants, located on the southern tip of the country. The area has a temperate climate with warm summers and cool winters and the climate is warmer than most other places at the same latitude with 18.6 °C (65.5 °F) as an average temperature in mid-June. The city has a compact city center and the University of Agder is located in its immediate vicinity. Kristians and has historically been part of an international oriented region with close ties to Great Britain and continental Europe. As a consequence, most citizens speak excellent English and several other languages are also well represented among the 150 nationalities living in the city. In Norway, Kristiansand is best known as a summer destination, while the rest of the world knows it as a world class center for innovations in oil-services and offshore drilling technology. Large international companies such as NOV, Aker Maritime and Schlumberger have for many years, been present in the city employing engineers in thousands.

The University of Agder is a new and modern university located at the southern tip of Norway. Being a driving force for societal and regional development, the University of Agder pays close contact with industry, organizations and cultural institutions. It is an internationally oriented university in a region exposed to strong international competition. www.uia.no/en. The university offers a variety of PhD, Master's and Bachelor's programs covering most academic disciplines. There are currently 12,000 students enrolled and approximately 1100 faculty and staff members. The academic activities are organized into seven faculties including the UiA School of Business and Law. The UiA School of Business and Law is a comprehensive, academic institution with over 2 200 students and 100 faculty and staff members. The school offers programs on all academic levels and provides future professionals and executives with a strong foundation in wide range of relevant subjects.

www.uia.no/en/about-uia/faculties/school-of-business-and-law.

Research is the cornerstone of the academic mission of the UiA School of Business and Law. The research based education fosters the interaction between research and teaching with dedicated researchers in all business disciplines. For the faculty, this means publishing in top ABS-rated journals as well as being able to communicate new insight in student teaching. The research from the Business School is published in leading scholarly journals as well as in books published by top rated international publishing houses.

UiA School of Business and Law is by many seen as the leading and emerging markets.

European center for research in the field of international business

The Nordic countries were among the first to establish diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of China, and since then have enjoyed longstanding and friendly relations. While each Nordic country values its own bilateral relationship with China, there are some areas where there may be room for further coordination.

People's Republic of China — Norway relations date back to the 1950s with official establishment of diplomatic missions on 5 October 1954. However, on 8 October 2010, after the announcement of the next recipient of Nobel Peace Prize (Liu Xiaobo), the relations between the two countries deteriorated. China and Norway decided on Dec 19, 2016, to normalize relations after six years of freeze. Norway's Foreign Minister Borge Brende talked with China Daily's Mo Jingxi about his expectations for bilateral ties earlier this year (13 January 2017). His main points:

- China and Norway have complementary economies, and both countries will benefit greatly from enhanced economic cooperation. Norway has solid expertise and experience in sectors such as environmental technology, maritime, offshore oil and gas exploration and fish farming which can benefit China.
- Norway has an open economy that welcomes foreign direct investment. This includes investments from China, as has also been the case over the past years. As an advanced, knowledgebased economy, Norway is an attractive destination for Chinese investment.
- Norway is already an active member of the AllB, and we hope that the bank will prove to be an important vehicle for Norwegian investments in Asia.
- Norway's sovereign wealth fund is currently the world's largest of its kind, and has already made substantial investments in China.
- Norway has the ambition to be a knowledge hub for polar issues and research. We have a large portion of our population living above the Arctic Circle in a region that generates wealth for the entire country. We have had a longstanding and mutually beneficial cooperation with China on Arctic issues. China has established a research facility on the island of Svalbard.

- Research in the Arctic is pivotal to understanding climate change and how it affects our environment, and the changes are happening faster in the Arctic than anywhere else. Norway also welcomed China's participation as an observer in the Arctic Council in 2013.
- Norway is pleased with the rapid increase in Chinese tourists to Norway, and looks forward to welcoming more tourists from China in the years ahead. Norway has taken steps to facilitate swift processing of visas for Chinese nationals, and is continuously looking at ways to further enhance services in this regard.
- Norwegian educational and research institutions have also shown great interest in broadening the cooperation with their Chinese counterparts. The government's "Panorama"-strategy on research and higher education lists China as one of the six priority countries. There is great potential for expanding the contacts in many fields, ranging from climate research, the environment and environmental technology, energy, aquaculture, agriculture, polar research, and the humanities and social sciences. Some of the most promising areas for enhanced cooperation are green finance and clean energy.
- Chinese and Norwegian enterprises signed 13 agreements of cooperation in maritime produce import, shipbuilding, education, energy and other sectors.
- Over 900 business elites held in-depth discussions under the theme of creating a sustainable solution and building a better future at the event, jointly hosted by the Norwegian Embassy, ACFIC, Innovation Norway, and the China Enterprises Confederation.
- Norwegian Prime Minister Erna Solberg hailed the renormalization of Sino-Norwegian political and diplomatic ties, saying that it has created enormous opportunity for Norway's business and employment. She said she looked forward to restarting free trade talks with China, Norway's biggest trade partner in Asia.
- The economies of China and Norway have strong complementarity and

- Norway, with its superior environment of innovation, strong research capability, and outstanding resource power, as well as unique advantages and characters in shipping, fishing, energy, environmental protection and oil and gas exploration, has expanded its business ties with China from trade to investment cooperation, technology transfer, engineering projects and other sectors.
- By December 2016, Norway has had 495 investment projects in China with investment totaling 620 million USD, while China's investment in Norway has amounted to 3.55 billion USD.
- Business delegates from both sides also held seminars on China-Norway oil and natural gas collaboration, green smart city and green transformation, start-up enterprises and innovation, healthcare and welfare technology, tourism, digital market and shared economy
- We are happy to welcome the CGG delegates to Norway and to continue making a singular contribution to the globalization of China. This year features nearly over 100 delegates, 23 panels and 57 presentations. We hope to expand our network of friendship and develop new collegial relations leading to academic and scientific contributions as well as new funding opportunities and business relations.

With best regards,

Jan Alen

Panel Meetings

We are asking panel Chairs to coordinate a discussion or a time to meet with presenters prior to their panel. We also ask Chairs and Presenters to arrive in their presentation rooms 15 minutes before their panel session begins to test equipment, etc.

Panel Session Guidelines

The time allocated for each panel session is 105 minutes:

- a. The Chair will take roughly 5 minutes to open the session, introduce the Presenters, and set the context for the discussion.
- b. Each Presenter will take no longer than 12 minutes to present their material. If any presenter would like to use PowerPoint slides, we ask that he or she use no more than 6 content slides (+ 1 for title and authors' reference). Please bring your presentation with you on a flash drive and upload to the conference laptop in the assigned room ahead of your presentation time. Based on the number of papers presented in each session, the Chair might contact directly all presenters to adjust the time of presentation and number of power point slides.
- c. Following the presentations, the Chair will open the discussion to the audience, giving the floor to Discussant first. Each presenter will act as discussant of the previous paper (the last paper will be discussed by the first presenter). Discussant may decide to make a one-slider (ppt) with constructive but critical questions.
- d. The Chair will monitor the time taken by Presenters as well as audience members. The Chair will conclude the session with a 5minute wrap-up.

Scientific papers can be downloaded at the following link: www. chinagoesglobal.org/conference/paper-submission/. In case a full paper is not available (for interactive presentations), please contact directly the Conference host (ilan.alon@uia.no).

A timekeeper will also be assigned to each room to let speakers know when they have 5 minutes left, 1 minute and when they are out of time. (The timekeeper will also monitor time for audience questions and comments.)

Panel Materials

Chairs as well as Presenters should review the abstracts and papers for their session ahead of the conference meeting time. We hope that Chairs and Presenters will be able, where possible, to draw comparisons or discuss similar findings in the related papers.

Equipment

Note: It will not be possible for presenters to use their own laptops during their session so please load any materials to the conference computers prior to the start of your session.

There will be one computer in each conference room that is synched to a projector. Please put your slides on a USB drive. We ask that Presenters do not use live internet connections due to the number of speakers and sessions.

Role of Chair

The Chair has responsibility for moderating the session and ensuring that the discussion is lively, informative and stays on time. We ask that Chairs:

- 1. Ask presenters for their papers or abstracts for their session prior to the conference
- 2. Meet with their Presenters prior to the start of their session.
- Ensure that all PPT slides for the session are uploaded on the conference computer, and
- 4. Be actively involved in the discussion.

Role of Presenters

As previously mentioned in the Panel Session Guidelines (b.), presenters should plan their presentations to stay within the allotted time of 12 minutes. We ask that they not read their papers but instead focus on learnings and conclusions that encourage discussion. If a Presenter would like to use slides, we ask that he or she limit the number of content slides to 6, using the rule of thumb that it takes roughly 2 minutes to present each slide.
